Happy New Year!

Welcome to 2018.

With Penny retired and off enjoying her new found freedom, things are changing at Cranberry.

For starters, I am still here and going strong. January and February are always a little quiet, giving me time to acclimate to not having my right hand person here.

When seasonal business starts in March, I will be organizing staff and restoration projects, offering more classes, and placing larger orders (by then maybe there will be better selection available in the supply chain).

One of the difficulties of having a single manager small business is having the flexibility of leaving when the need arises. Thus, starting January 17, 2018, I am making Wednesdays my appointment / installation day when there will be the possibility that I will not be physically in the studio. I will have my cell phone with me and all studio calls will be forwarded to it. I will also try to communicate up to the moment scheduling updates via Website Calendar, Facebook, Twitter, and by leaving a "Returning By" sign in the door with my cell phone number. The best practice will be to call before you come on Wednesdays.

You are always welcome to drop by, call, or email me if you have any questions.

Placing an Order.

January 18th, 2018

I will be placing a medium sized order on January 18. If there is anything specific you need, including glass, please let me know by the 17th.

Fusing 101 Course

Saturdays, February 10, 17 & 28. 9am-1pm

Even if you don't have extensive glass cutting experience, Lori will take you through all the basics and beyond. This is a comprehensive course designed to get you up and running confidently in the wonderful and creative world of glass fusing.

Course includes Lori's 85 page book put together exclusively for her Fusing 101 students, several projects, writing your own firing schedules, how to program a kiln and a whole lot more.

Check out Fusing 101 for more information and don't forget to sign up early! Space is limited!

BEGINNER STAINED GLASS COURSE.

Another Saturday Class!

The last Saturday scheduled course filled to capacity quickly, so I thought I would try it again.

Cranberry has scheduled a Beginner's Foil & Solder Class to start March 10.17 & 24, on Saturday mornings 9-1pm. We have 1 person already registered and we have space for 5 more! Remember, we only take 6 in a class so you get lots of attention.

Let Lori know if you are interested in taking our Beginner Stained Glass Course.
